SHISHA

menu

SHISHA at LAYALINA

We started providing Shishas over 6 years ago at Layalina and always had great feedback from all our customers. All our tobacco are coming from reputable suppliers in the Middle East. We pride ourselves in the best quality Shishas available in the market and high standards of service. All flavours are hand crafted and we use fresh pineapple for all our shishas. If you require a specific mix or you have something in mind, please ask you waiter.

A bit of history

The Hookah's origin traces back to India. It surfaced in the form we know it as today around the 15th Century when Indian Glass manufacturing began as a result of the exporting of glass to India through the British East India Company. The glass base was called Shisha. Its mystique spread to Iran wherespecialstrong,flavorlesstobaccowasusedwithitcalled "Ajami". It rose to fame under the Ottoman Empire's rule around the time of Murat V in 1623-1640. The sultans of the age took portraits with their Nargiles and it became a status symbol of the time. It was smoked after royal dinners and at diplomatic meetings.

Hookahs are known around the world by many different names, such as a water pipe, nargeela/nargile/narghile/nargileh, argeela/arghileh, shisha/sheesha, okka, kalyan, orghelyoon or ghalyan. Many of these names are of Arab, Somalian, Indian, Ethiopian, Turkish, Uzbek, or Persian origin.

Shisha Shisha, a synonym for Hookah, is from the Persian word shishe, literally translated as glass and not bottle. It is more commonly used in Egypt, Morocco, Tunisia, Saudi Arabia and Somalia.
